MEMORANDUM FOR: The Director

The White House staff (Bromley Smith, Executive Secretary of NSC) is working on plans for a Presidential ceremony in honor of you. The time and the exact location in the White House are not yet certain. The White House knows you will be out of town until 28 June.

You are asked to suggest a guest list of those you would like to have in attendance. The list is yours to make as you see fit. It can include Agency as well as non-Agency personnel. We understand that wives will be invited also. The White House, of course, will issue the invitations.

If it is determined that the ceremony will be held indoors, the number of guests will have to be fewer than would be the case if it is held outdoors in the Rose Garden. The President will decide the locale.

You are asked to arrange the list in such a way that the names appear in an order of preference so that if the President should decide to keep the number of guests small, names can be deleted from the bottom of the list.

We would like to be able to get this list from you before you leave for the West Coast this Sunday. It should be in the White House Monday morning.

As suggestions, you may wish to consider members of the following categories:

1. NSC and related officers
2. 303 Committee
3. USIB
4. PFIAB members
5. Key officials of the White House staff such as Rostow, Moyers, Kintner, et al
6. Members of our Congressional Subcommittees and other members of Congress.
7. Senior Agency officers (the morning meeting group).
8. Personal friends and family.

I have attached lists of some of the key people who compose the above categories. I will be glad to meet with you at your convenience Sunday, the 26th, to get your list and arrange for its delivery to the White House. I can be reached at

E. H. Knoche

The Honorable Bromley Smith
Executive Secretary
National Security Council
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Bromley:

The purpose of this note is to bring up to date the details pertaining to the forthcoming award ceremony for Admiral Raborn.

The Admiral says he finds it personally more convenient to have the ceremony on or after 14 August as you suggested in our recent telephone conversation. The Admiral wanted me to make certain, however, that you and others at the White House know that he, of course, will adjust to any schedule convenient to the President.

The Admiral thinks it would be good, if the White House agrees, to invite Senators Fulbright and McCarthy. He regards both as personal friends.

The Admiral also hopes that the members of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the House Astronautics Committee can be included among invited guests. I am attaching a copy of the membership of these Committees.

I expect that Admiral Raborn will be suggesting additional invitees and, in this event, we will phone the details to your office.

I am going off on two weeks of leave beginning 9 July, and Col. L. K. White, the Agency's Executive Director (ext. [redacted]), and [redacted], Executive Assistant to Mr. Helms (ext. [redacted]), are both aware of the status of arrangements and can be of help to you as required. Feel free also to contact [redacted] and [redacted]. They are in periodic contact with Admiral Raborn.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Bromley Smith
Executive Secretary, NSC

Attached is a list of suggested invitees for the award ceremony for Admiral Raborn. As you suggested, the Admiral's list of personal friends is in general "order of preference." The Admiral, however, did not wish to distinguish in this way in regard to Executive and Congressional officials. He prefers to leave to the White House final selection in these categories. The Admiral is quite hopeful that wives will be included in the invitations.
